The Maison Louis Vuitton

Imagined with luminosity by Louis Vuitton Master Perfumer Jacques Cavallier Belletrud, Attrape-Rêves embodies the daring and invigorating journey of transforming a dream into reality.

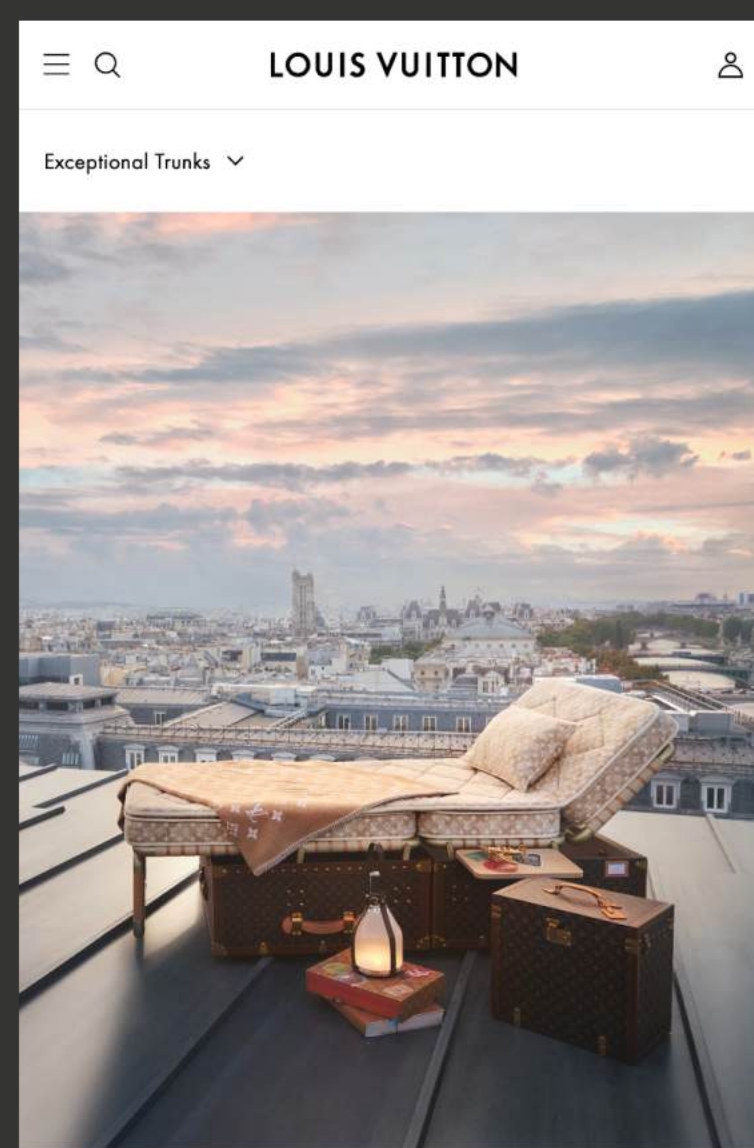

LV Volt is the graphic Fine Jewelry Collection where the Maison's iconic initials come together, split apart, and intertwine to become a powerful metaphor for movement and their own unit of measure.

Through an expert play of sharp lines and smooth contours, the unisex LV Volt collection draws on the Maison's most abstracted form of the L and the V to find its energy, establish its rhythm, and express its beat.

Competitors on the court, companions on a shared adventure, Louis Vuitton unveils a new chapter in its iconic Core campaign with tennis champions Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal, captured by celebrated photographer Annie Leibovitz.

Louis Vuitton Bed Trunk
Continuing an innovative trunk-making expertise, the iconic Bed Trunk is revealed in two new distinguished variations. In an ode to Louis Vuitton's spirit of travel, these exceptional creations embody the Maison's signature elegance and sense of freedom.
